

1 WHAT IS CLAIMED IS:

2 1. A support bandage for a joint between bones comprising:
3 a small fraction having two opposite first longitudinal sides sewn with 4 two opposite second longitudinal sides of a large fraction, wherein the small 5 fraction is incurved towards the large fraction, and has two arcuate seams on the 6 small fraction, and a segment between the two arcuate seams is more incurved 7 than two end segments outside the arcuate seams, and the two arcuate seams are 8 away from a wearer 's joint.

9 2. The support bandage for a joint between bones as claimed in claim 1, 10 wherein before being sewn up, the small fraction has a first top side and a first 11 bottom side between the first longitudinal sides, and a crescent upper opening 12 and a crescent lower opening, wherein the upper opening is curved upwards and 13 the lower opening is curved downwards, and each opening has a middle portion 14 wider than two end portions, the first longitudinal sides are incurved; and 15 the large fraction has a second top side and a second bottom side 16 between the second longitudinal sides, the second longitudinal sides are 17 incurved.

18 3. The support bandage for a joint between bones as claimed in claim 2, 19 wherein the small fraction and the large fraction are connected at an upper 20 corner.